

MACCABAEAN DEBATE WON BY THE FROSH

Annual Fresh-Soph. Event
at Maccabaeon Circle

ZIONIST PRESENT

Colonization Scheme the Subject at Meeting Yesterday

The first year were the winners of the annual freshmen-sophomore debate at the third meeting of the Maccabaeon Circle yesterday afternoon. The debate was a most lively one and was followed by a keen discussion from the floor.

The Circle was honored by the presence of Miss Leon, noted Zionist worker, who spoke briefly. Miss Leon declared that she had just returned from Palestine for the fifth time. In glowing terms she painted the re-building of the Jewish homeland, the work of the pioneers and the results that were being achieved in that remote Judean country of the East. In conclusion she urged the whole-hearted support of the Circle in the Zionist cause.

The turn-out at the meeting was the largest this season. Following Miss Leon's address the chairman announced that the speaker had been named an honorary member of the Maccabaeon Circle.

"Resolved that the Zionist organization should oppose the Crimean colonization scheme" was upheld by the speakers for the first year. Opening the argument for the affirmative Lawrence Marks defined Zionism as "aimed at creating national feeling" with Palestine as the great objective.

The colonization plan brought forward by Russia provided for the settlement of many of the Russian Jews in Southern Russia, particularly in Crimea. Fifteen million dollars would have to be sunk in the project. The Zionists feel Marks claimed that the Russian Government is an irresponsible one and that Palestine deserves priority. This division of energy on the part of the Jews might, too, be urged, bring about a loss of confidence on the part of Great Britain who looked forward to Palestine as a country of coming significance. The Zionists might, he added, lose much money owing to the diversion by some of contributors of their contributions from that organization to the colonization scheme.

"The Zionists are interested in a land and not in a Russian philanthropic plan which begins today and ends to-morrow," Marks declared.

Priority for Palestine must stand out as the paramount duty of the Jews, he urged. It is all a matter of finance, and fifteen millions for the Jewish homeland would go very far.

Russia is a land distant and to the Jews—the plan was such as could not warrant really enthusiastic support.

For the negative Miss Dorothy Bloomfield painted conditions existing in Russia to-day. Communism removed the middle class, hence the Jews who composed a great section of that class were left stranded. The scheme suggested offered a most logical solution. Palestine cannot hold all the Jews of the world. What, then, she asked, was to become of the suffering Jews in Soviet Russia. Agriculture lies as the great solution and the plan of the Joint Distribution Committee to place the Jews of Russia in Crimea is therefore a most commendable one. The Russian Government grants the land free, and will provide transportation. Surely, urged Miss Bloomfield, this is a splendid idea. Sovietism is now eight years old—there is no guarantee for the stability of any government—why then is the risk so great?

"The Jewish farmers have been successful there for over a century," the speaker declared. The venture was feasible, reasonable and worthy of support. Zionism has one aim Palestine. But the Jews of the whole world are more important. Two million of them are suffering in Russia. Help is a necessity she urged.

Miss Hulda Alexander took exception to what she termed "a few of the unfounded statements of the negative." She objected to the statement that the Soviet Government was tolerant; facts she claimed showed otherwise.

Soviet Unstable

"Insecure, unstable, hostile" was the way in which she characterized Sovietism. The Jews could not run the risk of becoming known as working hand in hand with the Bolsheviki. The scheme is a hazardous one. Probably there are ulterior motives behind the move of the Soviets.

"Why turn Russia—a country of the past when we have Palestine—a country of the future to handle," Miss

Two R. V. C. Basketball
Matches Played Saturday

38-27 AND 61-15

Closest Contest was Between
Seniors and Juniors

The R. V. C. Juniors and Sophomores claimed the first two basketball victories of the season by defeating the Seniors and Freshies in two inter-class matches at McLean's Hall on Saturday afternoon.

The Seniors and Juniors lined up first and for a time it looked as if the wearers of the scarlet ribbon were definitely in the lead. Miss Allen the Senior shot netting a number of baskets in quick succession. The Juniors however soon proved to be a speedy aggregation with extremely good team work and this gave them an edge on their opponents. Miss R. Turley a former basketball star who is back at R. V. C. this year, scored eight points for the Juniors and together with Miss Perry soon raised the score to 19-11 in favor of R. V. C. at half time.

In the second half as all through the game, Miss Dunlop played a stellar game for the Seniors. The passing and combination of this team was smoothly worked out but could not bring about the desired effect. This was due to the watchfulness of the Junior guards. At the final whistle the score stood 28-27 for R. V. C.

Miss McMahan scored the first two points in what proved to be a rather slow game between the Sophomores and the Freshies.

The game started off in a whirl of

MACDONALD LOST TO DENTALS, 11-6

Agriculturists Put Up Game
Fight Saturday

The Dentals invaded St. Anne's Saturday afternoon and downed the hitherto undefeated Macdonald football squad by eleven points to six.

The game was a good one and there was not a minute of the play that was not well worth watching. Although they were defeated, the Macmen were not hopelessly outclassed. In fact they put up a game fight and it looks as if the winner of the Science-Medicine contest will be up against a strong aggregation.

The Macdonald rosters, mostly composed by the way, were out in force as usual but even with their valuable aid the Agriculture team was unable to win.

A touchdown by Stanton and another by McMahon together with a rouge gave the Dentals their eleven points while O'Sullivan contributed a touch and a convert for Macdonald's six.

The field was dry and hard, resulting in fast and open play. There was a high wind blowing however.

McMahon, Thompson, Beaton and Stanton started for Dentistry while O'Sullivan was best for Macdonald.

Stanton fell on a fumble behind the line for a touch during the first few moments of play. The convert was not made. Both teams tightened up then and there was no more scoring until the third period. In the latter stanza however McMahon made a brilliant 75 yard run for Dentals' second touch.

The convert was again missed. In the fourth quarter an attempted outside kick gave Dentistry a rouge. They lost the ball immediately afterwards on their 25-yard line and O'Sullivan made a beautiful run for a touchdown.

He converted from a very difficult angle. The game ended shortly afterwards with the ball in Macdonald's territory.

After the game the members of the Dentistry squad were guests at a supper and dance, both of which were thoroughly enjoyed by all. Members of the squad have nothing but praise for the Macdonald style of entertainment.

Morton of Dentistry was injured shortly after the opening of the third period. He was kicked in the back and forced to retire but was much better yesterday.

The teams lined up as follows:

Mr. T. B. Macaulay, President of the Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Commercial Society to be held tomorrow evening in the Union at 8 o'clock.

During the last ten years under Mr. Macaulay's leadership the company has increased nearly 250 per cent. He is furthermore regarded as one of the ablest investors on the North American Continent. It will therefore be a privilege and a benefit for those who attend the meeting to hear Mr. Macaulay discuss this topic.

The executive of the Society has now arranged a very excellent and comprehensive program of meetings this year. At these meetings the members will listen to some of the oldest speakers in the city. "ALL'S WELL....."

Once more McGill after going down to defeat in the first three games of the intercollegiate rugby schedule has fought through to a victory in the final contest, but this time the finish was even more thrilling, more like story books, than those of the previous two years.

The week certainly did prove a week of victory. The same day that the rugby team went into the intercollegiate win column the Red and White eleven won their second game in two days and their second successive intercollegiate soccer championship. It was a fitting climax to a good season. Everywhere it has played, the soccer team has created a fine impression, both because of playing ability and sportsmanship. As for the rugby team, the account of that last game is in itself sufficient evidence of the quality of the squad.

Toronto, it must be noted, was not left entirely without a taste of victory for the Blue and White rugby team beat McGill for the title.

THE PENDULUM SWINGS—?

It would seem as though the many editorials on "A Higher Standard of Scholarship" published by this paper during its long life are beginning at last to bear fruit. Others may declare that the editorials merit none of the credit whatever, but that the entire situation is due to the fact that the university authorities have demanded a higher standard from the students which necessitates more consistent toil.

Personally we are inclined to believe that neither the first or the second cause played more than secondary roles in the change of student disposition and character....for we have just been told on good authority that a change has occurred. To our mind it merely means that the pendulum is swinging back: for a time pleasure, sport and thrills have been the chief aims, and now, having found these false and shallow we have turned our faces toward something higher....at any rate to something new....study.

At least it seems so. Nor are we altogether without proof. A year or so ago, as an instance, an ordinary university dance scarcely needed advertising....tickets were swooped up at the very opening of the wicket, even though dances were of frequent occurrence. At present, however, college dances are limited to barely three or four during the year and even then require much publicity to assure their success.

We cannot credit the theory which some cynics put forth that to a great many students an ordinary informal dance is now too "tame"; in other words that the student character in general has sunk so many degrees lower in the mire of sophistication that a mere dance at which certain old-fashioned forms of decency must be observed does not now appeal.

Indeed our idea is much more optimistic. It is that the evolution has been in an upper direction. We believe that the students have now almost abandoned the search for hectic, life-sapping pleasure in favor of the much keener quest for truth. Knowledge and wisdom are about to be restored to their seats of power....the usurpers cast to the ground. Study will be a word once more re-echoed on the campus and work a term complete with meaning. Naturally some will disagree with us, offhand, but to all such, indeed to all who would prove our thesis false we ask that they answer in some manner other than our own this question—Why the daily throngs at the Library since mid-year exams are to be no more?

THE CRITIC.

A full-grown upper-classman crying. There on the steps of McGill College was a Junior, spangled with tears from eyes to chin. "Love?" I inquired. "No-n-no," he stammered. "Student?" "N-n-no." "Money difficulties?" "N-n-no." "Well what on earth ails you then?" This appeared to be a serious case.

"I'll tell you then," the mourner sniffed. "They—they're gonna pull down the Arts building a-a-and its furniture, a-and I spent two whole years carving my initials on one of the d-d-desks."

It's a small world, friends. Modern improvements have ever disregarded old traditions and past endeavors. Perhaps a few of these beloved knife-work desks could be removed to the McCord Museum to remind future generations of—er—the thirst for knowledge prevailing in days of old.

"She's a peach!" was my companion's remark. "Hotsie-totsie, what a doll!" he exclaimed five minutes later. "Oh baby! Look at that sweetheart!" he commanded upon seeing a third pretty lady. Being human myself, I looked willingly, but this involved a matter of beauty and my conscience.

was disturbed regarding its usefulness.

Listen to Ruskin: "Remember that the most beautiful things in the world are the most useless: peacocks and lilies, for instance." But surely Ruskin will admit that beautiful girls have a duty to perform in the world. What, for example, would become of our magazine covers without them?

A certain acquaintance of mine wrote home as follows: "Dear Sister: The boys are enjoying your doughnuts immensely. Send four more and we'll have a complete set of quarts." Sister meant well and brother didn't appreciate it. I wonder just how many such young men and women exist in any one college.

Upon first entering New York, my friend John was proud of what he considered good breeding. So during his first subway trip when he had occasion to offer a lady his seat, he did so. He hardly had time to tip his hat before a male strap-hanger calmly slipped into the vacant seat. Everyone nearby tittered.

John was quick-witted, however, and said, "Thanks for the lesson, buddy. Put it there."

When Mr. Strap-hanger accepted the proffered hand, he was yanked to his feet. Thereupon the woman said,

GLADNESS OF LIFE

(Answering P. A. B. in Saturday's Daily.)

Life's like a happy thought
That pauses in its passing
To brighten a dark path
By golden deeds amusing.

Life's like a cheerful smile
When we do good to others,
For kindness is the key to bliss—
"Dear children, love your brother."

Life's just the thing we plan
To make it, glad or weary;
The will to smile when things
Go wrong make life more cheery.

Life's just as full of joy
As we may care to fill it.
The love of men,—the love
Of God must always thrill it.

passwork which carried the ball up and down the floor both sides missing several shots.

After Miss McMartin's two baskets Miss Snyder '29 who is a most spectacular shot scored one. From that point the score for the Sophomores piled up rapidly. Miss Carter the other forward on the '25 line up was doing some particularly effective work. Very few of her shots missed the basket throughout the entire game. At the end of the first period the Sophomores were in the lead of the 32-5 score.

The wearers of the yellow ribbon got the jump in the second half and carried the ball down to the Freshie's basket. From a toss up there between Miss Carter and Miss Snyder the ball was neatly battled into the net, thus giving the Sophomores a most unexpected additional point to their score which stood 61-15 at the end of the game.

The Sophomores work particularly well together four of the R. V. C. Second team being in the class of '23. The Freshies have not played together much as yet but have the makings of a fast team.

Faculty Personnel

Sir Arthur Currie paid a visit to Ottawa last Saturday, where he was a guest of honour at a grand conference of Toronto and Ottawa Free-masons Societies.

Mr. W. J. Spence registrar of the University of Manitoba visited this university last Saturday. Mr. Spence attended the registrars' conference at Ottawa and arranged for a trip to McGill before his return to Winnipeg.

He: "I have just read that every person has some distinctive peculiarity. I am sure that I haven't."

She: "No?—well—do you stir your tea with your right hand?"

He: "Of course I do."

She: "That's it, then. Most people use a teaspoon."

"Thank you, but I am well able to stand." The bystanders laughed.

The above incident was strongly impressed on my mind and I have had the pleasure of seeing this attitude absent in Montreal, especially among the students of McGill, which fact is commendable. Only? Non? Nest-ce pas.

TERRA NOVANS HOLD MEETING

Dr. I. M. Thompson Addresses Newfoundland Club

A large number of students from "Ye Ancestral Colony" attended the first meeting of the Newfoundland Club, for 1925-26, held last night in the Union.

The president Mr. Lidstone after welcoming all, briefly outlined the objects of the club, this for the benefit of the newcomers. He then introduced the speaker Dr. D. M. Thompson of the medical staff. Dr. Thompson is himself a Newfoundlander. He addressed himself particularly to the freshmen and emphasized the importance of accurate thinking as one of the chief aims of a university course. His training, he said, was equally well offered by the different faculties but it was up to the student to take advantage of it. The impetus given to the teaching of Science in English Universities by Huxley, who had legislation introduced, making elementary science a part of the school curriculum, was instanced by the speaker as illustrating the frank rather than the frontal mode of attacking problems. The speaker advocated the latter method.

Mr. Bert Wells a senior of the club in a short talk urged the freshmen to participate in as many phases of University life as possible.

The following members will comprise the executive for the coming year.

President—M. Lidstone
Vice-President—S. W. Francis
Secretary—A. K. Snelgrove
Social Committee—T. J. Quinton, Windsor, P. W. Fitzgerald.

In the first meeting much enthusiasm has been evinced in promoting the interests of the Newfoundland Club and an active, successful session is anticipated by the numerous members.

Prince Edward Island and its Scottish Names

At the time of the last census in 1921, Prince Edward Island had out of a population of 88,615, 88,137 inhabitants of Scottish origin. The large proportion of people of Scottish descent, which is not approached by any other Canadian province, is indicated in the place-names which are the subject of a pamphlet of 55 pages just published by the Geographic Board of Canada.

Some of these place-names date back to 1772 when Captain John Macdonald, Laird of Glenaladale and Glenfinnan, brought out over 200 emigrants. The names associated with the various branches of the Macdonalds include in addition to Glenaladale and Glenfinnan Keppoch, Kinloch, Kingsburgh and Tarantum.

Port Seikirk commemorates the fifth Lord Seikirk who personally came out in 1808 and settled on the island 800 emigrants who would otherwise have gone to the United States. This was eight years before he began the settlement of what is now Manitoba. Many of the early settlers in the island came from the island of Skye which is borne out by the place-names Armadale, Glaslynn, Kilnmuir, Landale, Portree, Stanchel and Uig. An interesting Gaelic name is Corranban applied to a settlement on Tracadie Bay. The name means "white sickle" and refers to the appearance of the froth-covered shore line in the fall of the year.

The first British survey of the island was made in 1765 by Captain Samuel Holland an army officer, who had fought at the sieges of Louisbourg and Quebec. He named a large number of features after fellow officers including Murray river after the Scottish General James Murray, Governor of Quebec 1761-66. Of other Scottish names New Glasgow commemorates Glasgow, Scotland from which settlers were brought in 1819 by Wm. Bpps Cormack the Newfoundland explorer. While there is no Edinburgh or Aberdeen on the island there is Dundee, the naming of which commemorates

The Editor,
McGill Daily,
Allow me on behalf of the Dental Rugby Team to express our appreciation and thanks for the manner in which the Macdonald squad received the Dental players last Saturday. After a strenuous game our hosts bid us to a sumptuous meal which was intermingled with a variety of cheers. Following supper the Dents. enjoyed a pleasant evening dancing. Thus terminated a most successful trip which was greatly appreciated by all.

Sincerely,
S. A. ROBINSON.

ONE POINT MAKES MCGILL VICTOR IN LAST RUGBY GAME

Injured, Cameron muffed, on a running catch and left Varsity in possession at centre. McGill was not taking advantage of the wind, and was being ground steadily. After a few minutes of seesaw play Snyder forced St. Germain down behind his lines for another point. McGill 5, Varsity 8.

W. Stollery and Wood replaced Fraser and Irwin on the line. Varsity made the yardmen move their sticks on a plunge. It was for the first time Toronto had gained yards.

Snyder punted over the goal line and Ralph St. Germain was forced to concede Varsity another point. Three quarter time ended, McGill 5, Varsity 9.

Final quarter

Toronto was taking full advantage of the wind behind her, and was gaining on every play. Varsity lost ten yards when her wings went down expecting a kick that did not materialize. Trimble took the ball when the McGill team stood around and watched Snyder block St. Germain's kick. Snyder kicked out of touch on McGill's five. Toronto's advantage was growing as the watch moved round. Varsity secured on McGill's twenty yard line and Snyder tried a third drop. The wind carried it over and it only counted for one point when Cameron roared. McGill 5, Varsity 10.

Six minutes playing time remained when McGill was in possession at centre field. Philpott had the ball on the line came down, Cameron neatly received a clean lateral pass, and sent an equally clean pass to St. Germain when he was threatened. Ralph put on all his speed and ran up the field dangerously near the touch line. He evaded the second defense neatly about ten yards from the goal line and went over for a touch that sent the McGill section wild. It was a wonderful run. Manson converted neatly from a very easy angle. McGill 11, Varsity 10. The Red and White supporters were jumping all over the stands.

Varsity tried hard to break ahead in the time that remained, but McGill managed to keep the ball in Toronto territory. Coleman tried an on-side but failed. Game over, McGill 11, Varsity 10.

DEATH AND DRAWMA

These bloodthirsty young villains of writers, most often with a lavender hanky or two tucked up each of their sleeves, will yet annihilate the race.

One slow and tortured death in every story is seldom exciting enough. They must have drawma, and drawma isn't possible, you know, unless a few are killed. They get drawma, sometimes, but at what a cost!

The mighty Zane, of purple sage and honest-to-goodness he-man fame, has slain his hundreds with his trusty words. Most of these killing young writers sprinkle several extra drops of perfume on their handkerchiefs whenever Zane's name is mentioned. But they go on killing off people to get their drawma just the same.

These young fellows, although they quite evidently have never watched a man die one of the violent deaths they describe, are bubbling over with excuses to kill their funny characters with their weasel words. It's some one, preferably, by all means some fat and feline female, so much as look at their characters' cross-eyed, they hurry them to some shady spot and buy them poison—or a revolver.

That is real life, realistically portrayed. Oh! Hail! It's a raw stuff, this.

Nearly every magazine, containing work of younger writers one reads these days has two murders or suicides to the page or thereabouts.

One of these fine days the reading public is going to rebel and commit a few artistic murders on its own account. One of these fine days the reading public is going back to the works of the dear old writers who listened on their characters' "sanities" through to a happy end.

Then another crop of bloodthirsty young writers will have to do it all over again.

INTERMEDIATES PLAY OFF WITH ST. MICHAELS

This Week at Toronto

GOOD CHANCES

Seniors Will Provide Opposition at Practices

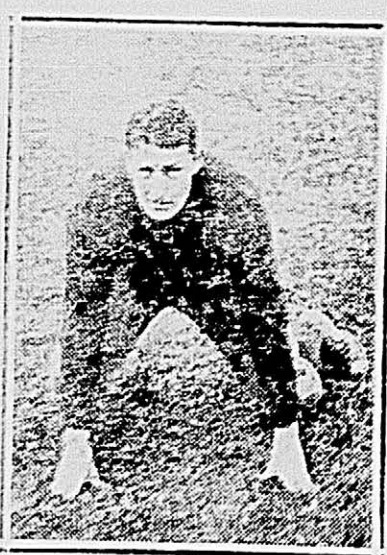

The Intercollegiate Rugby Championship will be decided next week when the McGill Intermediates meet the highly touted St. Michael's College of Toronto. Though details are not finally settled, the game will probably be played in the Varsity Stadium next Saturday.

St. Michael's have climbed to the top position of the Western division by defeating Western University and the Guelph Argos (O. A. C.). They eliminated Varsity's chances by downing them 24 to 0.

St. Michael's line-up shows stars of great fame. Their big man "Big" Le Del has been in the game for seven years and is one of the fastest runners in Canadian rugby.

"Sham" O'Brien is playing his last year with St. Michael's and is stronger than he has ever been in his brilliant football career. Bob Lowery is the third of the backfield trio, said to be the best in intermediate football for the past three seasons which will fade from the picture after the struggle with McGill.

"DES" WALSH

Who repeated his stunt of two years ago and blocked a Varsity kick.

"Brude" Bazin, captain of the Intermediates is well pleased with his team and their hard fought game on Friday.

The team will be without Boyd Milen who by playing Senior on Saturday has reached his quota and must from now on play only Senior. Graham Gorrie who played a great kicking game on Friday will be out despite a hurt back. Taylor flash-back is still in good trim. The team is lucky in its find of Gavin Chisholm who, out of the game for several years, responded to the Daily's notice last week and staged a great comeback at Kingston of the younger players brought up from the Juniors. Dalton and O'Mera show great promise.

As a splendid example of team spirit the Seniors are going to turn out to the intermediate practices which start on Tuesday, to provide the all important opposition.

The Intermediates will not in any case play off for Dominion honours. This would bring them against the C. N. R. and a team from Sarnia. No College team since 1912 has gone through for the Dominion title as it carries on until Christmas.

ENGLISH RUGBY GOES TO U. OF T. FIFTEEN

In a fast and hard fought game in Toronto on Saturday the McGill English Rugby team went down to defeat before the University of Toronto fifteen by a score 2-0. The Red and White showed improvement over the game they played here last week, and the score of one touchdown for the Torontonians just about indicated the play. Having beaten McGill 6-0 in Montreal, U. of T. retain the intercollegiate rugby championship for 1925 by a total score of 9-0.

JUNIOR MERMEN HAVE RECUPERATED

McGill and M.S.C. Will Battle To-night at K. of C. Tank

During the last few days there has been much talk over the M. S. C. vs. M. A. A. A. water polo game which lasted out for twelve periods but the night there will be no such comment for McGill will see to it that the old nifty full time will be quite sufficient for the M. S. C. The Juniors are playing the M. S. C. at their home tank at the K. of C.

Since the last game has come a period of recuperation and the team should keep up its old style. The bathing suits have been reinforced and one might even suggest the protective measures should be introduced in polo as well as rugby. With all the boys in the pink of condition, quite literally and physically, it would be a pity to see them emerge from the fray with only streaks of red on their Apollo-like forms. In view of the serious danger of foot and mouth disease they should certainly wear masks and rubber socks. It is noted that one or two of the members wear rubber caps, but things are not as bad as all that.

The Juniors at practice are generally pitted against the Intermediates with more or less disastrous effects, according to which way you look at it. Jim, imagine Layman, swimming as a minnow round Forsythe the ... or Maroon rubbing noses with "Little" Moore, and a worthy defence, man having a good shower from the threat of Chisholm's crawl. It's good training for the younger team and just the medicine they want.

For the present they will be quite satisfied and are putting out the following team tonight. The game begins at 8 p.m. Please note the early time.

Goal: Goddard; Defence: Methams, Allan; Centre: Lyman; Forwards: Gibbons, Maroon; Sub: Chisholm. Referee and Judge of play: Aird and Men.

NEW BRUNSWICK TOOK ENGLISH RUGBY TITLE

Displaying speed and beautiful combination, University of New Brunswick outplayed Montreal English 15-0 on the campus Saturday to win the MacTier Cup, emblematic of the English Rugby Championship of Eastern Canada.

There are no lectures at U.N.B. this morning as preparations are made to welcome the title-holders. Reports from Fredericton indicate great excitement when the results were coming in Saturday. Greater crowds assembled than waited election results last month, and students were parading the streets celebrating the victory of the Red and Black.

The production of quartz in Canada during 1924 totalled 150,598 tons valued at $223,156, as compared with 264,076 tons valued at $599,250 in the previous year, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

DIRECTORY LISTS ARE NOW WITH PRINTERS

The completed list for the Students' Directory is now in the hands of the printers.

It had been hoped that the alphabetical lists could have been drawn up at an even earlier date than this, but the usual inevitable delays occurred. Lists from several classes were late coming in and work could not be commenced on making the final arrangement. However a staff of men began doing so as soon as the last class list came in, and have now finished their work.

An added feature of the Directory books this year will be that they are to be punctured at the upper corner so that it will be possible for them to be hung up beside the telephone or in some such convenient position.

QUEEN'S AND LOYOLA JUNIORS TIED SERIES

Defeating the Loyola seconds 14-12 on the Loyola Campus Saturday, the Tricolour juniors had the two-game semi-finals to decide who should meet University of Toronto for the championship. Loyola were minus the services of Gagne, their star half, and it was only in the last thirty seconds that they gained the point that kept them in the running. A strong wind affected the trend of play considerably.

MACCABEAN DEBATE WON BY THE FRESH

Alexander declared. She urged that the Jews once settled in Crimea would lose their connections with the Jewish culture and the ideals of the outside world. Assimilation would eventually creep in. The project could not, she maintained be allowed to take form.

"What we need in a question like this is fact—rock-hard fact," declared Gerald Pickleman concluding the argument for the negative. The Manichaean colonization scheme for Jews has been a great success he pointed out. This other scheme means no opposition to Zionism. It is an immediate necessity and there is no other scheme to solve the question.

"We cannot realize the utter misery of these people in Russia," he continued. All the Russian Jews, two millions of them, cannot be placed in Palestine. The money is forthcoming. Pickleman urged. There was no reasonable object for opposition. Zionism should co-operate and not stand by in a hostile manner.

The judges, Miss Sally Solomon B.A., Ben Bernstein B. C. L., and Bernard Cohen B.A., after deliberation brought in a verdict for the affirmative. The judges' decision was not an unanimous one.

It was announced that the annual Maccabean Dance would be held on December 15 in the Union hall room.

Those wishing to join the association are asked to apply to W. H. Moore Science '27.

After the meeting a practice shoot was held and results were very satisfactory, more than one "bull's eye" being pierced. B. S. M. Reid made the best individual score. The next shooting practice is to be held Saturday afternoon.
